

Kitchens and Baths Building? Remodeling? Wondering where to begin?

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

“I have been thinking that it is time to up-date my home! Where do I begin and how do I know how much my project will cost?”

This is a question that we at Kitch-Encounters answer every day!

For most home projects, whether new construction or remodeling, regardless of which room you are concerned about, the only way to know what is possible and how much it will cost is to get started with a plan and start the process of material selection.

“Where do I get plans? How do I select materials?”

Visit a well-stocked showroom!

There are many ways to start your planning process but the best information will come from residential designers. A good way to start to form your opinion of what works best in your home is to review the latest styles and colors by looking at magazines. Then by sitting down with a local expert you gain the advantage of their knowledge and experience. And visiting a well-stocked showroom will make the selection process convenient and quick.

“What is the design process like and how long does it take?”

Whatever the project, follows these steps!

The first meeting should be a discussion with your designer about your ideas, your goals, your needs and your budget. Initial choices of materials, styles and colors can be made with the guidance of your residential designer.

Now you are ready to have preliminary measurements, specific to your projects, made by your designer at your home.

Next an initial plan is now generated and drawings, which will help you visualize your project, are created so that you may review the details and make modifications.

The process can take a few days to a week or more, depending upon the extent of the project and the homeowner's availability to review plans and make final selections. Those selections determine the overall cost and time to complete any project.
